Trends for the learning industry from Trumps climate policy, French and British Elections

We have broken this article into 4 parts

- Past
- Present
- Future
- Relationships

◆ Past

- Need for power made entities go external to get personal ambitions met
- The balance between ethically right and practically possible was lost
- This behavior of larger entities slowly got into personal DNAs

◆ Present

- National policy and priorities are not looking at overall good and going for internal policies
- The survival of the larger good is being compromised.
- The Brexit, migration support and climate policies turmoil are trends in this direction

◆ Future

- From the larger levels to lower levels personal compulsions will lead the decision making
- For entities and people it will demand higher and higher commitment to think of larger good

Trends for the learning industry from Trumps climate policy, French and British Elections

- The Trump Jr link to Russia a long adversary is ones personal interest conflicting with the national good

◇ Relationship

- Self interest will govern most transactions in the modern world
- Richness of quality of life towards societal priorities will be strongly needed but difficult to sustain

✂ Summary ✂

- Balance of life will be strongly needed but a challenge in coming times
